

Warrior Debate Teams to Open Season Friday

Postponed from Oct. 13-14, the El Camino College-San Diego State College forensic debate has been rescheduled for Friday and Saturday. This will mark the Warrior team's first debate of the season.

Mason Wolpert is the newly elected squad captain of the group. A former North High student, he was on the team which took first place in the Second District and went on to the state tournament.

Bill Buchanan, Ramon Diaz, Lynne Goldsmith, Jim Masuda, Dianne Plumb, Sandra Wegner, Dave Welp, and Pat Wiggins complete the Warrior debate team.

DEBATE TOPIC for the year, selected by a national committee, is "Resolved: That labor organizations should be under the jurisdiction of anti-trust legislation."

During the season, which will continue through April or May, ECC teams will match skills with junior colleges and universities in the Southern California area, including USC, Redlands, Long Beach State, and Occidental College.

THE PROGRAM calls for 70 to 75 debates in the fall semester and an increased number in the spring.

Adviser of the forensic group, Harold Borden, described two objectives of the speech activity.

"The first is to provide a broad participation — any student may profit from forensics and any student is welcome to our group," he said.

"THE SECOND goal is to make the best possible showing for El Camino College in competition," the instructor continued.

Borden feels that experience in debating offers unlimited opportunities and enormous possibilities to the student, helping him to gain confidence and poise in front of others, to learn to read and speak critically and to learn the basic oral processes of democracy.
